The Ambassadors Quartet from Central Bible Institute and Seminary, Spent up to 10, and you wouldn't dare employ a stenographer under 60.

See Her At Home
Every man has a horror of being bossed, and well he may. So before you get really serious, take a good, long look at a girl in her own home and see whether she bosses her family. If she rules the roost and run through you may be on the very steps of the altar. For the girl who can rule her family can manage her husband with one hand tied behind her back.

When you go to pick out a wife, son, look for a girl who is sound in mind and limb and who won't be a perpetual doctor's bill. Pass up the girl who is nothing but a clothes rack, who dresses beyond her means, who is high, wide and handsome around the girl who lets Mother do all the cooking while she keeps her hands perfectly manicured. Don't marry the girl who is always late for appointments, and who never appears unless she has good, hard, horse sense.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am aged 37 although I am never taken for more than 20. I am now dating a fellow who is 36 and who keeps asking me my age. I am quite sure that I would not like it if he knew that I was older than he was. No one has ever been told my correct age.

Shall I tell this man my age and suffer the consequences, or shall I tell him I am 33? Frankly, I would feel more at ease having him think that I am younger than I am. R. V.

Answer: According to the presumably honest data that you give me, you are only one year older than your boy friend, and I can't present the honoree's with a gift of their chosen pattern of China.

Covers were laid for the following guests: Miss McDowell, Ira Yocom, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ira Yocom, Sr. and son Jimmy, and Mr. and Mrs. Jewell.

Mrs. P. L. Perkins with the following National Honor Society Students: Miss Mary Joann Franks, Miss Betty Murphy, Miss Catherine Cox, Miss Mary Anita Lascere, Miss Nancy Camp, Miss Mary Elizabeth Coleman, Bob Hyatt, Burgess Garrett, attended the State National Honor Society Meeting in Pine Bluff, Friday and Saturday.

Coming and Going
Mrs. Jack Mallott of Hot Springs is spending this week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Dale Clark.

Mrs. Beyerly Entertains Circle
The Prudence Riffey Circle of the First Baptist church met Thursday April 7 at the home of Mrs. Homer Beyerly with Mrs. Terrell Hutson as co-hostess.

The meeting was opened with prayer. Mrs. W. W. Andrews presided over the business session. The program was "The Answer in the Rural Community" was presented by Mrs. George Young. An inspirational devotion was given by Mrs. Jack Fountain. Others giving parts on the program were Mrs. James E. Coulough, Mrs. W. Andrews, Mrs. Charles Reynolds, Mrs. Terrell Hutson, Mrs. Walter Miller.

At the close of the meeting the hostess served a delicious salad plate to fourteen members and two visitors.

Beta Sigma Phi Holds Formal Initiation
A formal candlelight ritualistic service was held by the Alpha Zeta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, an international, non-academic organization, in the Barlow Hotel, Friday evening at eight o'clock, for its pledges.

The ritual table centered with a black bowl filled with a lovely arrangement of yellow roses, the Sorority flower.

Miss Frances Bigler, International Staff Representative, of Kansas City, officiated in pledging the following: Mrs. E. F. Formby, Miss Ethel Schmidt, Miss Betty Babbs, Miss Betty Martin, Miss Shirley Shook, Miss Shirley Pearson, and Miss Modelle Looney.

The officers for the ensuing year were installed by the representative, assisted by Miss Mary Cox. The officers are as follows: Director, Mrs. E. F. Formby; President, Mrs. Inez Staats; Vice-President, Miss Wanda Buggles; Recording Secretary, Miss Emeline McDowell; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Mary Ethel Perkins; and Treasurer, Miss Nellie Jean Bailey.

Following the initiation and installation services, ice cream, lemon cakes, embossed with the yellow rose and coffee were served to those present.

DOROTHY DIX Choosing a Wife

Dear Miss Dix: Are there any reliable earmarks by which a man can tell before marriage what kind of a wife a girl will make? I have known so many girls who were everything that was sweet and gentle and angelic before marriage but shrews and hellions after marriage that I get into walking distance of the altar.

What are a man's chances of getting a wife who will come up to expectations. Instead of keeping him wondering why he picked her out?

JONATHAN
Answer: Well, son, there are plenty of ways by which a man can tell before marriage what sort of a wife a girl will make. The trouble is that men look for guardian angels to protect them instead of depending on themselves, yet the matter is absolutely in their own hands. For woman can no more conceal her mental deformities than she can her physical ones.

If, therefore, you are engaged to a girl who has fits and hysterics ever and one who notices another woman, be warned in time. Break off your engagement before you let yourself in for a lifetime of misery. She will make the sort of wife who will keep you in terror all your life. She will go through your pockets looking for letters from other women, sniff at your clothes to find out if they smell of perfume, and scrutinize you to see if there is any lipstick on your shirt. She will force you to pop into your office to see what you are up to, and you wouldn't dare employ a stenographer under 60.

'Secret Land' Also Award Winner

Robert Taylor, one of the narrators in the running commentary of "The Secret Land."

Something new in film heroes and adventure comes to the Rialto Theatre Sunday for three days run, "The Secret Land."

In contrast to the usual motion picture "The Secret Land" has on the film the world's most daring adventure into the unknown.

Metro Goldwyn Mayer are grateful to the U. S. Navy who made it possible to present the authentic film "Operation High Jump" as the "Secret Land of Antarctica."

The stars of Secret Land are men and ships of the U. S. Navy. Commander Robert Montgomery, Lt. Robert Taylor, Lt. Van Heften.

The Motion Picture Industry recently acknowledged the outstanding "Secret Land" by the 1948 Academy Award for the best documentary film. Earl Young, city manager for Saenger-Rialto theatres urges every person to see this outstanding production.

Here and There in Arkansas
Atlanta, April 8 —(P)—The Ku Klux Klan will keep hands off the city's exhibition baseball game featuring Negro Jackie Robinson and the Atlanta Braves.

Dr. Samuel Green, Georgia grand dragon, said klanism would not make a demonstration against the appearance of the Negro ball player.

A pledge never to enter the Atlanta baseball park again if a game is played there by players of mixed races," Green said.

The Atlanta baseball club will lose thousands of dollars if the game is played tonight as scheduled.

Little Rock, April 8 —(P)—Fort Smith's increase of approximately 5,000 in population under recent census brought to eight the total of Arkansas cities already qualifying for increase in turnback payments from the state this year.

Since Jan. 1 other population increases have been certified to Trenton, Mo., by Clayton by Monticello, Blytheville, Moberly, DeWitt, Searcy and Newport and Pine Bluff.

While these cities receive higher turnbacks, other cities must take a pledge never to enter the Atlanta baseball park again if a game is played there by players of mixed races," Green said.

Harrison, April 8 —(P)—The Missouri and Arkansas railway apparently is dead at last.

An Interstate Commerce commission order for abandonment of the 361-mile line, idle since 1946, became effective yesterday.

Applications are pending for operation of two segments. But said that Foster said he would know as the Missouri and Arkansas.

Cutworms Worst Pests in Gardens
Cutworms are serious pests in the growing of commercial vegetables and in field crops. Tomatoes, cabbage and corn are most often damaged. Home Demonstration Agent Lorraine Blackwood explains, but many other crops may suffer.

Certain kinds of cutworm moths lay eggs in fall and winter on rank weed growth, in lespedeza meadows, and where ever there is a great deal of vegetation. When the plants are plowed and planted, the voracious cutworms may destroy the crop.

A clean seedbed exposes cutworms to birds and other natural enemies. A clean seedbed also makes it easier to kill cutworms with bait.

Brant bait will control cutworms. Mix one heaping teaspoon of Paris Green with one pound of wheat bran. Then mix in a little less than the pint of water. Spread this bait evenly over the garden just before dark. For larger amounts use 25 pounds of bran, one pound of Paris green or sodium fluosilicate and 2 and one half gallons of water. This amount will bait one acre.

Baiting before planting was good insurance on Hempstead county land in meadow or pasture last year. On other land bait at first sign of injury.

Little dust may be used instead of bait. Use 10 per cent DDT dust, 20 to 30 pounds per acre. Dust evenly over the ground will give good control but is rather expensive. A cheaper method is to use the ground immediately around the plants. Mrs. Blackwood explains.

If 10 per cent DDT dust is not available, mix one pound of 50 per cent DDT with 4 pounds of flour.

Aly and Rita to Get Married This Weekend

By SALLY SWING
Paris, April 8. —(UP)—Multi-millionaire Indian Prince Aly Khan and Rita Hayworth will go to the Riviera this weekend to marry, their friends said today.

The last legal obstacle to the marriage was cleared yesterday when a Paris court divorced Aly and his English-born first wife, the former Joan Vardre-Butler.

Aly and his red-haired movie star sweetheart were secluded in Aly's swank Paris west-end apartment. They refused to see newsmen and let their household staff to keep mum.

But friends disclosed the couple was packing and reports from Cannes said the prince's sumptuous Chateau de l'Horizon was being readied to receive them in a few days.

It was believed Aly and Rita plan to motor to the Riviera with friends. The prince's three American limousines were being oiled and the apparent preparation for the 800-mile drive.

The last word from Rita before she went into hiding with Aly at his Paris apartment was that they would be married as "soon as possible," she said she was "pretty sure" the ceremony would be performed in Cannes, probably at the Chateau de l'Horizon.

Workers at the Chateau were putting finishing touches to a huge ornate-style bedroom overlooking the Mediterranean. Aly and Rita were ready for his bride-to-be, their doors open onto a new flagstone terrace.

Negro Has Long Record of Crimes
Eutaw, Ala., April 8 —(P)—A 55-year-old Negro today faces 10 years imprisonment in two states for crimes charged against him before he compiled a 16-year-record of honesty in a third state.

The Negro is Willis Coleman. He got two years for manslaughter in a court verdict here Tuesday. When he finishes the sentence he must go to Arkansas to serve two years for another manslaughter conviction.

Both killings occurred more than 20 years ago.

Lee said Coleman pleaded guilty of shooting Will Green at Boligee, Ala., in 1929.

Coleman at that time had two years to serve on a manslaughter conviction in Arkansas but had escaped and returned to Alabama, the sheriff said. The Negro fled Alabama before being brought to trial for the second shooting.

Coleman settled in Tallulah, La., 16 years ago and lived under the name of Frank Hunter. Tallulah Sheriff E. C. Hester said.

Hester said the Negro bought 65 acres of land on credit, paid off his debt through hard work and earned the respect of both races in that vicinity.

Coleman was recognized by police from notices sent out by Alabama authorities. Last November he was arrested and returned to this state.

Sheriff Lee said here before the trial that he considered Coleman completely reformed, but the law required him to bring the Negro to trial.

Freed of Rape Charge, Now Faces Suit
Chicago, April 8 —(P)—Vince Foster, headliner in a Chicago stadium boxing program, tonight in his campaign for a welterweight title match, yesterday was sued for $100,000 damages by a Kansas City girl who charged him with rape.

Criminal rape charges against the 22-year-old Omaha boxer were dismissed last March 21 in St. Joseph, Mo., for lack of evidence.

In a suit filed in circuit court yesterday, Miss Alice Smelta, 23, said that Foster raped and beat her on a highway near St. Joseph, Mo., on Feb. 7. She said in her suit that she is pregnant as a result of the alleged attack.

R. Newcomer, St. Joseph prosecutor, in dropping the criminal rape charges against Foster, said a report by a physician who examined Miss Smelta, did not contain evidence that would bring a conviction. Foster has denied the attack on Miss Smelta, who is an office manager. He said he met her while visiting relatives in Kansas City and drove with her to St. Joseph.

THE SCOUTING TRAIL
Den No. 5 of Cub pack 90 was organized to replace the den at the Experiment Station; after all of their Cubs had passed into scouts, except one who was transferred to the new den.

On March 3, 1949, the following Cubs met to elect their officers and other business. Orval Brannon, Jackie Bruce, Moran, James Harvey Gunter, Larry Martin, Henry Houston, C. M. Bittle, Jr., Dan, Leon Davis, Don, Mother, Mrs. Leon Davis, Don, Chiff, Donald McQueen, Denner, Larry Martin, Keeper of the Buckskin, C. M. Bittle, Jr.

The regular meetings of the Den are held on Wednesday afternoon from 4 until 5 o'clock at one of the Den Mothers home.

HEARING SET
Little Rock, April 5 —(P)—A hearing by the Arkansas Oil and Gas commission has been set here tentatively for April 21.

Among matters to be considered is what control the commission should exercise over exploratory holes drilled within the state.

According to men in the field, more salesmen earn $10,000 or more a year than do members of any other profession.

Sunday School Lesson

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.
We call Jesus "the Son of Galilee," and we think of His ministry as chiefly in that region where He grew up. In the home of His parents, where was the Sea of Galilee from which He called the fishermen to be His first disciples; and of Jerusalem and its environment in Judea, where were Bethlehem, and Bethany, and the Mount of Olives.

A glance at the map of ancient Palestine, with a reference to the details in the four Gospels, shows how large and important a part of the ministry of Jesus was in other parts, outside of Galilee and Judea. John 4, it is stated that when He was in Judea He wished to go to Galilee, and that He "must needs go through Samaria."

The map shows why that was so, for Samaria lay right between Judea and Galilee, all the way from the Jordan to the Mediterranean. We are glad that Jesus had to go through Samaria, for that necessity gave us the wonderful story of his meeting with the Samaritan woman at the well of Jacob, with the declaration of the Messiahship, and the great words concerning true worship.

There was however, another way that Jesus might have gone, if He had chosen to cross the River Jordan. The Samaritan journey from Galilee to Jerusalem was this that He did, entering Judea from the farther, or eastern, side of Jordan. It is not quite clear at what point He crossed the Jordan, but the Samaritan with His disciples to Jerusalem brought them through that region known as Perea.

Perea was a region of high mountains, wooded slopes, rich fields and fertile valleys, where mountain streams wandered and olive groves and vineyards. It must have been an alluring region for a Master who so loved the land and its treasures; but the shadow of the Cross was looming heavily upon Him. He sensed the dangers awaiting Him at the end of that journey, and mystery and sadness compassed the disciples as they little understood.

It was on this journey that He blessed the little children, that rich young man came to Him and went away sorrowful, renouncing his great opportunity; the sons of Zebedee, the "Boanerges," still in the area of an earthly kingdom, were out of the Father's kingdom, and to them and to the other disciples, "Moved with indignation," Jesus sought to impart the lesson concerning true greatness in humility, ministry, and service.

It was a most significant journey, and one that the disciples were long and deeply to remember. Their enlightenment only came after the Resurrection. Then they understood the words that were so mysterious and mystifying. But the experience of that journey must have had a large part in their new faith.

Perhaps we, also, must journey with Jesus beyond Jordan, if we should understand the mystery of His mission, and ours.

Owen Awarded Judgment From Mexican Boss

Springfield, Mo., April 8 —(UP)—Mickey Owen, who jumped from the major leagues to the Mexican baseball circuit three years ago, won a $51,428.50 judgment yesterday against his former boss, millionaire Jorge Pasquel.

But the biggest hope of the former catcher of the Brooklyn Dodgers still is to get back into the majors.

"Naturally I'm happy about the verdict," Owen said after a federal jury had awarded him a sum representing the unpaid portion of his salary in the Mexican league for 1940 and his full salary for 1941, and 1942.

The jury also turned down Pasquel's damage claims against Owen.

"What I really want now is to get back into organized baseball," Owen declared. He said he expected to play semi-pro baseball this summer.

Owen was one of more than half a dozen major leaguers who were lured south of the border by the Mexican League in 1940. Pasquel was owner of the Vera Cruz club and president of the Mexican circuit, which folded after he withdrew his financial support.

Each of the players from the major and minor leagues who played in the Mexican loop were suspended from professional baseball for five years by Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler.

Victor B. Harris, of St. Louis, attorney for Pasquel, said the verdict would be appealed.

Pasquel's breach of contract claim against Owen were for $127,500.

Arkansas Best 3rd Baseman in Baseball

Memphis, Tenn., April 8 —(UP)—Arkansas Best, Little Rock's hard luck champion of 1948, looks like the best third baseman in baseball this spring.

Steve O'Neil, his ex-manager, said he was the best he ever saw at the hot corner, and Rolf, center tiger pilot, also goes overboard on Kell.

Although Kell suffered a broken jaw in a collision with a hot grounder off Joe DiMaggio's bat last Aug. 27 at Yankee stadium, he shows no ill effects.

When George left his Swift, Ark., cattle farm this spring, some of his neighbors said he would be "gun-shy" at third base. He disagreed.

"I don't even think about it," he said, "fielding a grounder is pretty much automatic. You don't have time to think."

"I admit I felt a little funny the first time DiMaggio came up in exhibition. He really belts that ball."

"I think DiMaggio and Vern Stephens hit the hardest ball in our league. Stephens knocked me down one day, too. But I got up that time."

Two weeks after the DiMaggio incident, Kell ate his meals through a straw. His teeth were wired together. He was through for the season.

The incident that his bad luck has run its course. Kell is shooting for the all-star game this year. Being picked in 1947 and 1948 was his biggest baseball thrill.

"Imagine all those people, a million or so voting for me," he said. "My boyish enthusiasm at the age of 26 was as refreshing as a cool breeze on a hot day."

This is Kell's sixth full year in the majors. But for an oversight by the Brooklyn organization, he would be a Dodger. He signed with a Brooklyn farm club in Newport, Ark., and played there in 1940 and 1941.

"They moved me up to Durham in 1942," he said, "but they had about 34 players and sent around third base. I got a quick look and a release."

Kell signed 1943 with Lancaster of the Interstate League where he hit .300—tops in organized ball.

After playing with Philadelphia in 1944 and 1945, Kell was traded to Detroit for Barney McCosky May 18, 1946, in a deal that still amazes many baseball men.

"It surprised me," Kell recalled. "Mr. Mack had been telling me how he expected to build his club around me. Next thing I know I'm off to Detroit."

The shortstop Kell. He never has hit under .300 at Detroit. Last season he just made it with .304 in 92 games between injuries.

I looked at his war-weary uniform, wings over the pocket, two rows of campaign ribbons heavily dotted with stars and oak leaf clusters, the brilliant red, white, and blue shield on his sleeve; at his thicket of blond hair, the premature lines around his eyes, the nervous way he used his lips; and I thought there wasn't much sacrifice a civilian could make that such a boy hadn't earned and didn't deserve. Briefed him on what I should expect him to do, and he said, "Why don't you know for I never anticipated what a new guest would do and what did happen was never in the pattern of what had happened."

Roger came home as Rollo and I were finishing our arrangements. He hung around until "the Little Birdman," as he referred to Rollo, left, and then he advised me I was making a great mistake that the fellow wasn't of "our class."

Rickie said that Rollo was about to be married and would not undermine him and his hold on us; I listened instead to the click of his nose as it went out of joint, and watched the brown of his eyes turn to green. "Oh, this I hope for your sake," he concluded, "is that you'll keep him in his place. After all, he's only a roamer. A fellow with his cheek would be the first to take advantage of your husband's inability to see how one, but I let that pass. Instead, I set the table for three and hoped one pound of hamburger would do; Roger was exceedingly fond of Swedish meat balls."

Roger's prediction was right, but for the wrong reasons. Check and class had nothing to do with it; it was an animal social delirium, very letter that stirred Rollo's life had eloped the day before, with a snore and snore with it. Rollo.

to had watched for that letter for a week and when it arrived he wished he'd never seen it. He brought the letter to the kitchen to read.

Rollo began by giving off half-finished excerpts, his eyes raced hungrily over the pages looking for the date he wanted to tell me. As what Jean had really written bore in on his consciousness.

"I've been looking for a busy young Air Transport Command pilot waiting to see me. He was just back in this country from flying Lend-Lease over the Hump and he had been advised at the Field that Sonny was coming. (It often happened that new applicants for our rooms would come to see us before the present incumbents had left the place.)"

He wanted the Vickery's room for the brief stay of Sonny. Jean had wanted to get married before Rollo went overseas, but her parents insisted upon their waiting until she was 21. She had that birthday the same day he flew his 45th mission. His age plus hers.

"I thought I'd tell you I was like him like an omen of good luck, and now as soon as he cleared at the Field, he'd get leave and they'd be married."
